Burn Bright, Not Out: Ignite Team Success and Sustainability in an Era of Workplace Transformation

Workplace frustration is universal, but we often feel alone in facing it. This keynote explores:

- How centuries of prioritizing technical skills over soft skills have left us competitively disadvantaged and unprepared for real-world collaboration
- The neuroscience behind the impact this tension leaves, both individually and in team settings
- Personal stories of resilience and a new approach for a better tomorrow
- Audiences will leave with proven strategies and the motivation needed to turn tension into teamwork, conflict into collaboration, and burnout into brilliance!
